ACS Named to Top 20 in Training Outsourcing Industry for Fourth Consecutive Year

DALLAS, TEXAS: July 24, 2007 – Affiliated Computer Services, Inc. (ACS) today announced that for the fourth consecutive year it has been named to the Top 20 companies list in the training outsourcing industry by TrainingOutsourcing.com, a leading analyst firm in the learning business process outsourcing industry.

TrainingOutsourcing.com publishes the list to provide corporate, government, and training executives with a directory of those companies best suited for world-class outsourcing engagements.

“ACS has moved into a very elite group of learning BPO providers, having the capabilities, expertise, experience, and resources to deliver high-quality, comprehensive global learning services to a variety of clients,” says Doug Harward, CEO of TrainingOutsourcing.com. “ACS is well positioned for major growth in the learning BPO space through expansion into new service areas and new customers. I wouldn’t be surprised to see them emerge as the largest provider of training outsourcing services within the next five years.”

Companies considered for the list were assessed on 22 learning processes and 13 business capability areas. The Top 20 companies were selected based on detailed evaluations, including factors such as scope and depth of services, geographic reach, revenues, and client engagements.

“Being named to the Top 20 for four consecutive years recognizes ACS’ longstanding commitment to exceeding our global clients’ expectations every day,” said Richard Klingshirn, ACS executive managing director of learning services. “The award demonstrates our ongoing commitment to world-class service, performance, and innovation. It also reinforces ACS’ position as a top choice among training outsourcing services providers.”

ACS' Learning Outsourcing services span the entire learning life cycle from talent management and learning strategy, curriculum design and development services to complete learning process outsource services, including a world-class hosted learning management system and related managed administration, learner care, and support services. ACS' distinctive track record, blue-chip customer base and its pioneering achievements in Learning Business Process Outsourcing were key factors in its inclusion on the Top 20 list for 2007 and the three previous years.
