ACS Sponsors Second Annual Masie Center Learning Systems Conference

DALLAS, TEXAS: April 3, 2008 – Affiliated Computer Services, Inc. (ACS) today announced that it will sponsor Elliot Masie's 2008 Learning Systems conference focused on providing strategic guidance on the managing sophisticated enterprise learning technology.

Learning Systems, which is being held April 10-11 in Las Vegas NV, is organized as a user group model, focusing on key decisions and implementation strategies of large organizations in the selection and deployment of learning management, learning content management and performance management systems.

“ACS is a leading provider of integrated learning solutions, and we are proud to be associated with this event for the second year” stated Richard Klingshirn, executive managing director of ACS. “We are especially proud to share with our learning colleague’s practical guidance, approaches, tips, and methods for developing, contracting, and implementing successful learning partnerships specifically those supporting integrated learning technology systems. We applaud Elliot for continuing to provide a venue for business leaders to interact and share vital knowledge, and for his thought leadership within the industry.”

ACS’ Learning Outsourcing solutions span the entire learning life cycle. The company offers talent management and learning outsourcing services, which include strategy, curriculum design and development, a world-class hosted learning management system and related managed administration, sourcing, and support services.

ACS, a global FORTUNE 500 company with 62,000 people supporting client operations reaching more than 100 countries, provides business process outsourcing and information technology solutions to world-class commercial and government clients. The company’s Class A common stock trades on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol “ACS.” Learn more about ACS at www.acs-inc.com.
